

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A tip-up, slidable automotive seat comprises a seat cushion, a seat back, a tipping-up mechanism for allowing the seat cushion to be tipped up relative to the seat back, and an interlocking mechanism for preventing the seat from being moved forward unless the seat cushion is tipped up relative to the seat back and for allowing the seat to be moved forward when the seat cushion is tipped up.